TGP Fuel Forecast

Estimate the direction of prices ahead of official notification from your supplier

Take control of the pricing cycle.

Track prices and margins for your local markets as they change. OPIS reports wholesale TGP posted prices and forecasts where prices are headed 24 to 48 hours in advance. Our market analysis includes net wholesale buying prices. Negotiate better deals and make more informed decisions, whether you work in retail, wholesale, refining, storage, real estate or another segment of the supply chain.

Gain access to daily petrol and diesel prices in real time.

For the first time in Australia, retailers can access real-time and historical pricing data by product, brand and station. Monitor competitor pricing throughout the day. React faster to protect your profits and improve pricing strategies with our online tools and data.

From competitors to suppliers, know trends, prices and margins.

Our FOB Spot Singapore and landed spot pricing provide reliable benchmarks. Supplier-specific wholesale prices by product and by brand help you validate your pricing. Use our margin calculations to track profit performance.

A global authority on fuel pricing is now publishing in Australia.

OPIS tracks the entire fuel supply chain, from refinery gate to end user including spot, rack and retail markets worldwide. OPIS prices are tied to nearly 100 billion gallons of fuel per year. We bring 40+ years of expertise in downstream energy products to the Australian fuel market.
